OBITUARY. Among the many who have been stricken in the last ten days, it is painful to notice the death of Mi 6. G. RHINE. He was a native of Bavaria, came to noved to Memphis, where he has since resided until the fever broke out in our midst. His first en deavor was to pretect his family whom he dearly oved. Finding so many ports quarantining agains Memphis, he had his family removed to the country and believed that he and his family had found a narbor of safety; but, alas, the malaria was in his system, and, after remaining five days in the coun try, he was taken sick with the malarial fever, and than Mr. Rhine. In his business dealings he was always just and honest; toward the world at large he was just, generous and forgiving; to his family he gratitude and devotion. He leaves a wife and four children to mourn his loss, and surely they deserve the sympathy of us all. That his soul has found pence and happiness is the prayer of his FRIENDS.

C. L. Patterson, Secy. L. LAGRILL, Prest. MEMPHIS, September 13, 1878.

O'WING to the prevalence and continued malignity of the yellow fever, I have this day closed the Bank. The fever having invaded the cashle 's family and left me without assistants. I thought this the most prudent course to pursue. Funds deposited at the German National Bank. I will make my headquarters with the Ninth National Bank of New York, and am prepared to respond to all calls of depositors. Special deposits is my charge. I hope the abatement of the fever will permit me to resume business at an early day.
